Student film - Expenses paid

A comedy set in an apocalyptic world where two former politicians fight over the ethics of stealing someone else's beans in order to survive.

Character Profiles:

Kate:

Playing age: 25-30. Kate is the last surviving member of the Labour party. Internally, she is very egotistical and self-serving, Kate portrays herself as progressive and forward-thinking in order to gain the moral high ground over others. She wants nothing more than for her companion James to admit that she would make the better leader of the two.

James:

Playing age: 25-30. James is the last surviving member of the Conservative Party. Wearing his ego and narcissism on his sleeve, James wants nothing more than for his companion Kate to admit that he would make the better leader of the two.

Beans Man:

Playing age: 30 or above. Former groundskeeper of a British forest and esteemed hunter, Beans Man has managed on his own surviving in the apocalypse. He is very honest and a simple man. Beans Man gives the two politicians the benefit of the doubt when they stumble into his path.

*James and Kate must be quite formal/well-spoken

Shooting commences November 2020- Covid-19 safety measures in place
