

FREDDIE EXCERPT

Atkins is pushing hard against a mission to save a hostage from an opposing crime group, Freddie aims to persuade him emotionally and practically.

ATKINS

We don't know how many guys are in their crew, how many guns, can we at least hold off 'til we know more?

FREDDIE

Look Atty, I want to show our Community that we care about them. Ross and Rhys wants the same. (beat) Chloe's done all the leg work. It's three guys guarding the box. If the kidnappers don't know we're coming, it's an easy win.

Atkins has agreed to the mission in a heart warming way, and held out his hand for a hand shake. Freddie joins the handshake.

FREDDIE

Yes Atty! (handshake beat) Just think about the parents faces, how they'll feel getting their kid back!

ATKINS

I think about our people and how to keep them safe and stable.

FREDDIE

(agitated) You think I don't? After everything we've all said? You still think saving this kid is pointless?
