

Poems by PETER

It's always a joy to greet and say hello
To people we hold dear
It's so nice to talk things over
And just to have them near
But it's always so hard to do
No matter how we try
'Cause it always hurts a little
When it's time to say goodbye

The sun came shining through the clouds
When you and I first met
The sunshine of your smile warmed my heart
If happiness dawned on this lonely set
But too soon the day has ended
Dark and stormy clouds appear
I set alone just dreaming...
Wishing you were here...

First came fascination
Then love and ecstasy
And happiness forever
That's what you get for loving me
