

For many years he sought the beast
A hunting man who's now deceased
He roamed the hills, and valleys far
Now he hunts upon a star

Many years before his pass
He lived a life of simple task
No fancy car or truck did he
Two muscled legs is all that nee

Many nights he spent alone
Thru wind and rain snowy blown
His skin was brown like leathered hide
This man had nothing but pride

He had a love within his life
An angel woman was his wife
She guided him thru hard and thin
And raised the children just like him

As I sit here and I speak
He was my Dad, a soul to keep
Them days are gone, I miss him so,
A hunting man, with sons in tow

This man was loved by all who knew
His family, friends and children too
