

The 3-2-1 Tarot Spread

Sometimes all you need from a tarot spread is a quick snap-shot of the situation and the direction it's heading in. The 3-2-1 Tarot Spread will give you just that, and more, as I will show you...

Lay 3 cards out in a row - these are your 'scene-setters' and will tell you what is happening currently.

Lay 2 cards over the first 3 - these are showing you the direction your situation is heading in. What's interesting about these two cards are that they are often the product of the two they overlap & are directly related to them, the next step in the development of your situation.

Finally lay the last card on top of the previous two, overlapping them also. This is your projected outcome for your situation and again is the product, or culmination of the previous two cards.

Because the number of cards in this spread is a multiple of 3, you can use Elemental Dignities if you like. Or, if you prefer, you can just read in groups of three in any triad formation for gleaning extra information if you require it.
