Why gamble with low testosterone? Research indicates that Testosterone Deficiency affects a significant portion of both men and women. For instance, about 30% of overweight men and up to 24% of diabetic men experience low testosterone levels. Moreover, 38% of men over 40 (and 50% of men over 80) have testosterone levels below 300 ng/dl. Women who use birth control pills may also face testosterone deficiency, impacting ovarian function and bone strength.

Addressing testosterone levels is crucial for maintaining overall health and well-being. Low testosterone levels can lead to various adverse effects, including physical, cognitive, and social issues. Symptoms such as tiredness, poor concentration, and low mood may manifest in affected individuals.

BEPIC T™ is powered by Testosurge®, a natural, highly standardized ingredient proven in clinical studies to significantly increase total testosterone levels (by increasing steroidogenesis, competitive binding to SHBG and Aromatase & 5 α -reductase Inhibition.) It can also help increase performance, improve body composition, and support healthy sexual function.

Clinical Study Details: Effects of Testosurge® supplementation on strength, body composition and hormonal profiles during an 8-week resistance training program. Outcome: 500 mg of daily Testosurge® supplementation significantly impacted Body Fat Percentage, Total Testosterone, and Bioavailable Testosterone.
