

I am going to The Contemporary Jewish Museum.
It is a big red brick building in San Francisco with a large public courtyard in front.

When I arrive I might see a large area with grass and many people.
I might hear the sound of dogs barking, people talking, traffic, and loud construction.

When I arrive at the entrance of The Museum, I will meet my tour guide in the large plaza outside. I will put my bag, backpack, water bottle, and lunch into the large black bins provided outside. The Museum will store all of my things safely by the Visitor Services desk.

When I enter The Museum with my classmates, a security guard will greet me. The security guards are here to keep everyone safe. I can recognize them by their blue jackets and red neckties. They are very friendly and will help me as I enter the building and when I'm in the galleries.

I will then walk into The Museum with my classmates and into the main lobby. My tour guide will lead me and my classmates through The Museum during my tour and will answer any questions I might have.

When it is time to leave The Museum, I will collect my bags and belongings in the lobby.
