5. Potential Risks of Modern Slavery in our Supply Chains

Building on our existing policies, this reporting period we focused on the risks of modern slavery practices means the potential for an entity to cause, contribute to, or be directly linked to modern slavery through its operations and supply chains. The nature of being a retailer or seller and through our initial review of our supply chain, approximately 80% of the risk/exposure sits within the OEM businesses.

Our focus in FY23 was to further review internally our business relationships with our suppliers and contractors as a result of the 420 suppliers surveyed in the previous reporting periods. Patterson Cheney has also partaken in many supplier surveys and conversations as a supplier itself.

With the vast majority of our risk associated with our OEM's, we must not lose sight of other potential risks. Cleaners, car washers and detailers work in a high-risk sector that can often involve the use of unskilled and temporary labour and foreign workers.

In addition, with the introduction of Labour Hire Authority the risk has significantly reduced. Patterson Cheney requires all relevant suppliers to provide labour hire licenses which are reviewed regularly as well as appropriate insurances. We utilise our safety systems to track and monitor compliance of supplier insurances in order to carry out work with us.

6. Compliance and Action

In line with Patterson Cheney's Modern Slavery policy, we provide employees, suppliers and their families with a confidential, whistleblowing service that is accessible 24/7, 365 days which can be used to report suspected cases of modern slavery.

7. Our policies and procedures

Patterson Cheney is in the process has completed the roll out of a new contractor management system. Since being operational this allows us to closely monitor and further manage our contractors compliance requirements.

Modern Slavery along with Patterson Cheney's policy and procedures are all outlined and discussed as an apart of our extensive on-boarding routine.

In addition to the Modern Slavery Policy, Patterson Cheney maintain several other relevant polices which assist and support the efforts in addressing any modern slavery risks. These include, Whistleblower Policy, Grievance Policy, Workplace Health and Safety Policy and the Code of Conduct.

8. Educating our staff and suppliers

Patterson Cheney is always educating Senior Executives, department Managers and relevant employees and modern slavery forms a part of this. Further training will take place in the reporting period of FY24. In FY22/23 our Head of People completed further external Modern Slavery training. Prior to and upon submission our Modern Slavery Statement is tabled at our Executive meetings.

9. Future steps

Further supplier audits through surveys, employee awareness sessions and continuing to audit Labour Licenses will assist Patterson Cheney to achieve its Modern Slavery objectives. Patterson Cheney will act immediately on any suspected and reported breach of this statement and any relevant policy.

This Modern Slavery Statement was developed with consultation of all covered entities and approved by the board of Patterson Cheney Pty Ltd on the 10th December 2024.
