

The Last Gathering

Notes:

1. Plan a great dinner together in someone's home; it works best if it can be your home.
2. This is a great night of celebration, and of course, the wives need to be there. So don't leave anyone out.
3. Plan some "wild and crazy" games. Let them have fun; they have worked hard!
4. Set aside time for the men to share how their lives have been changed...let the wives tell how they have seen their husbands change. You lead the way by sharing a few words of praise about each guy. Remind them that though Joshua's Men is done, they have "just begun" their leadership journey. Challenge them to invest their lives in other men.
5. Close with a corporate prayer time.
6. Ask the men to take a few minutes to fill out the evaluation form.
7. Take a deep breath and get ready to start your next group.
Of course, you've already got your next group of guys lined up and signed up!

Joshua's Men Evaluation

1. Check your three favorite books during the year

- The 5 Levels of Leadership - John Maxwell
- Celebration of Discipline - Richard Foster
- Be A People Person - John Maxwell
- Visioneering - Andy Stanley
- The Pursuit of Holiness - Jerry Bridges
- Talk Like Ted - Carmine Gallo
- Point Man - Steve Farrar
- Master Your Money – Ron Blue
- Spiritual Leadership — Oswald Sanders
- The Next Generation Leader — Andy Stanley

2. Which was your least favorite book (or two) during the year?

3. What would you change about your Joshua's Men experience? (program, prayer partners, retreats, how we spent the four hours, etc.)

4. What was the greatest benefit/blessing/value you received from JMen?
