PROFILE

A driven graduate from the London College of Fashion, my passion lies in fashion photography and its intricate creative process. I envision my journey unfolding within the studio industry, eventually leading to creative direction in film and fashion photography. With a diverse background spanning creative industries (model agencies, studios, galleries, production teams) as well as marketing, hospitality, and retail, I bring a useful recipe of skills and experiences to the forefront. With expertise in shooting and assisting in studio environments, I feel passionate about joining a long-term team and contributing positively to creative atmospheres.
