Blandine L'Hirondel said, "I wanted to take advantage of a trip to Corsica to visit my friend and coach, Lilian Gugliero who is native from the island. It is a great opportunity to complete a block of training in preparation for my next big goal: the UTMB®. I therefore don't have any big ambitions for the race, other than to enjoy and run to my full potential in my current shape."

Two-time Olympic and five-time World Champion in Mountain Bike, Julien Absalon will also be taking on the event. He said, "I started to incorporate running during the last three years of my career as a professional cyclist. I got a taste for it and, when my career ended, I started running more regularly and lengthening distances. I no longer consider myself an athlete, but as a sportsman eager for new challenges, new experiences and I am enjoying discovering the trail world, which is new to me."

Race Director, Matthieu Girard said, "The best thing about the race is the landscape, from the high mountains and the glaciers. This makes it a challenging race but it is not too technical and the trails are in good condition. We have a good level of different elites, from Claire Bannwarth in the 100M, to Martin Anthamatten in the 100K so it will be interesting to see how it plays out."

Elite Preview

With five 100M race finishes under her belt already this race season, Claire Bannwarth (FRA, UTMB Index 707) heads into the Women Elite race as one of the favourites and is expected to be amongst the action at the front alongside top-ranked athlete, Aroa Sio (ESP, UTMB Index 745). Gilles Roux (ITA, UTMB Index 846) heads into the Men Elite race at the top-ranked and is on the hunt for his first UTMB World Series victory.

Martin Anthamatten said, *"I can't wait to race in this beautiful region with these incredible mountains.
