

Making P-System Slots with the Gannomat Machining Centers

"Integrating the Gannomat ProTec to machine our P-System slots has transformed our production process. By allowing our CNC machines to focus on tasks that require fewer tool changes, we've increased efficiency and now run more programs per shift. The combination of Lamello's P-System versatility and the Gannomat ProTec's simplicity has truly elevated our workflow — a perfect pairing that's streamlined production and boosted overall output."

Jewell Brown, Production Manager, Corman & Associates, Lexington, KY

"During our sales process for the Gannomat Index Pro it became clear to us that adding the P-System aggregate was a no-brainer. Even with a primary use case of dowel boring and insertion, having the ability to edge process for the whole range of P-system connectors was a value add that could not be denied. Our acquisition of the Index Pro was intended primarily for our production work, however because of the ease of programming we have been able to easily utilize it on a range of custom and one-off projects."

Dan Velázquez, J. Joiners, LLC, Hamden CT

How it works:

Gannomat Index machining center with P-System aggregate

Upload the P-System connector using Gannomat's integrated software to place the location of each connector on your workpiece

Programs can be edited, saved, and viewed for easy repeatability and quality control

Load components onto machine and clamp down using foot pedal

View from inside the Gannomat machine as it mills the P-System slots and Clamex access holes
