JEANTET ADVISED TEVALIA CAPITAL IN THE CONCLUSION OF A STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP WITH ALBA INFRA PARTNERS

Paris, 20 July 2026 – Jeantet advised Tevalia Capital in the framework of the launch with Alba Infra Partners of Altevera, a pan-European renewable developer and energy generation platform.

Alba Infra Partners, through its EOPF II fund, and Tevalia Capital have launched Altevera, a pan-European platform for the development and generation of renewable energy, focusing on the "last mile".

Altevera will combine Alba's infrastructure investment expertise with Tevalia's highly experienced management team and strong renewable energy development, financing and M&A capabilities.

Altevera's management aims to build a leading independent power producer (IPP) focused on selectively aggregating wind, solar and battery storage assets across attractive European markets. Initially, the platform will target opportunities in France, Italy, Germany and Poland.

The platform aims to aggregate and co-develop more than 500 MW of operating and late-stage renewable energy assets, as well as a development pipeline exceeding 2 GW across Europe over the coming years. Its strategy focuses on partnering with leading developers to acquire de-risked, late-stage assets, creating value through portfolio optimisation, refinancing and disciplined expansion, while limiting exposure to early-stage development risk.

Alba aims to deploy €150 million into Altevera, through its Alba EOPF II fund and co-investment.

Jeantet's team advising Tevalia Capital was led by Philippe Raybaud, partner, and Thibault Willaume, counsel, on corporate/M&A matters.

Alba Infra Partners was advised by Clifford Chance.
