Adventist Young Professionals Featured on Mission 360° TV

Episode Explores AYP's Development, Impact, and Plans for the Future

ROCKVILLE, MD - Adventist Young Professionals' (AYP) founder and president, Tim Kosaka, was recently interviewed on Mission 360° TV, a production of Adventist Mission, that takes viewers inside the mission stories to explore the lives of missionaries and people serving God all over the world.

During his conversation, Kosaka discussed how AYP has grown over the past year and how it is not only serving Adventists but also reaching young professionals beyond the Seventh-day Adventist Church. He also paints a picture of the future of the ministry and discusses ways Adventist young professionals can get involved in the mission of the Adventist Church. The interview follows a 2022 conversation that aired on Mission 360's "Church Plants and Professionals" episode.

As a ministry that fosters Christ-centered community through faith development, authentic connections, and ministry engagement, AYP actively impacts a community of over 7,500 young adults through its online community, local chapters, and virtual groups. Kosaka's interview, which is part of the "Have You Checked Your Health?" episode, airs September 15, 2022 at 10:30 PM ET on Hope Channel, and September 15, 2023 at 11:00 PM ET on 3ABN.

About Adventist Young Professionals

Adventist Young Professionals (AYP) is a global organization that fosters Christ-centered community through faith development, authentic connections, and ministry engagement. AYP globally unites and locally connects over 7,500 young professionals through a digital social network, virtual groups that foster intentional Christ-centered discussions, and local city-based chapters that collaborate with churches to facilitate spiritual gatherings, service activities, and social meetups. With an emphasis for missions, AYP seeks for all its programs to unite, engage, and inspire young people to glorify God. Beyond fostering intentional community, AYP educates young professionals for missional impact through an annual convention, mentorship, and inspirational devotional resources.
